The Software is licensed, not sold.

3. Ownership of Output

Backtwofront does not claim ownership of screenshots or other Output created using the Software.

You retain any rights that you hold in your Output. However, using ScreenShooter does not give you ownership of, or permission to use, content owned by another person.

You are responsible for ensuring that your capture, storage, sharing and use of any Output complies with applicable laws and does not infringe another person's copyright, privacy, confidentiality or other rights.

4. Licence restrictions

Except where expressly permitted by this Agreement or by applicable law, you must not:

1. Sell, rent, lease, sublicense or commercially distribute the Software.
2. Redistribute, publish, bundle or make copies of the Software available to third parties.
3. Modify, adapt, translate or create derivative works from the Software.
4. Reverse engineer, decompile or disassemble the Software, except to the extent that such activity is expressly permitted by applicable law.
5. Remove, conceal or alter any copyright, trademark or proprietary notice contained in the Software or Documentation.

The ScreenShooter name, branding and associated logos remain the property of Backtwofront Technologies Ltd.

6. Third-party components

The Software may contain third-party libraries, frameworks or other components.

Those components may be subject to separate licence terms. Where required, details of applicable third-party licences will be provided with the Software or within its Documentation.

7. Free availability and future versions

The version of ScreenShooter supplied under this Agreement is currently provided free of charge.

This Agreement does not entitle you to:

1. Future versions of the Software.
2. New features or functionality.
3. Continued availability of the Software for download.
4. Support, maintenance or updates.

Backtwofront may introduce paid editions, optional paid features or separate services in the future. Any paid product or service will be subject to the price and any additional terms presented at the time.

The introduction of a paid edition will not retrospectively require payment for a version of the Software that you previously obtained free of charge under this Agreement.

8. Updates and availability

We may provide updates, corrections, security fixes or replacement versions of the Software at our discretion.

Unless accompanied by separate terms, updates supplied by us will be governed by this Agreement.

We may stop distributing or supporting any version of the Software. This does not automatically terminate your licence to use a copy already installed, provided that you continue to comply with this Agreement.

9. Support

Backtwofront may provide help, support or maintenance for the Software but is not obliged to do so.

Any support is provided at our discretion and may be changed, suspended or withdrawn.

10. Term and termination

This Agreement continues until terminated.

You may terminate it at any time by uninstalling the Software and deleting any remaining copies in your possession or control.

We may terminate your licence if you materially breach this Agreement. Where the breach can reasonably be corrected, we may give you a reasonable opportunity to correct it before termination.

We may terminate the licence immediately where reasonably necessary because of unlawful use, infringement of intellectual property rights, deliberate circumvention of security restrictions or a serious security risk.

Upon termination, you must stop using the Software and delete all copies in your possession or control.

Termination does not affect your ownership of Output that you lawfully created before termination.

11. Disclaimer

The Software is provided free of charge on an “as is” and “as available” basis.

To the fullest extent permitted by law, Backtwofront does not guarantee that the Software will:

1. Be uninterrupted, secure or error-free.
2. Be compatible with every device, display configuration, operating system or third-party application.
3. Meet every particular requirement or purpose.
4. Remain available, supported or updated.
5. Produce Output suitable for a particular technical, evidential or professional purpose.

You are responsible for assessing whether the Software is suitable for your intended use and for checking important Output before relying on it.

Nothing in this Agreement excludes or restricts any legal rights or remedies that cannot lawfully be excluded or restricted.

12. Liability

Nothing in this Agreement excludes or limits liability for:

1. Death or personal injury caused by negligence.
2. Fraud or fraudulent misrepresentation.
3. Any other liability that cannot lawfully be excluded or limited.

12.1 Consumers

If you are a consumer, Backtwofront is responsible for loss or damage that is a foreseeable result of our breach of this Agreement or our failure to use reasonable care and skill.

We are not responsible for loss or damage that was not reasonably foreseeable.

The Software is provided for personal and business use. If you use the Software as a consumer, we will not be responsible for business losses, including loss of profit, revenue, business opportunity or anticipated savings.

Your statutory consumer rights are not affected.

13. Privacy

Any personal data processed by Backtwofront in connection with the Software will be handled in accordance with the ScreenShooter Privacy Notice published on screenshooter.co.uk.

The Privacy Notice does not form part of this licence grant but explains how any personal information associated with the Software or its website is processed.

14. Governing law and courts

This Agreement is governed by the laws of England and Wales.

If you are a consumer, this choice of law does not deprive you of any mandatory legal protections that apply in the country or part of the United Kingdom where you live.

If you are a consumer living in the United Kingdom, you may bring court proceedings in the courts of the part of the United Kingdom where you live. You may also be entitled to bring proceedings in England and Wales.

If you are a business user, the courts of England and Wales will have exclusive jurisdiction over disputes arising from or connected with this Agreement.

The parties may agree to use mediation, arbitration or another form of alternative dispute resolution after a dispute has arisen, but neither party is required to do so.

15. General provisions

This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between you and Backtwofront concerning the Software. It does not exclude liability for fraud or fraudulent misrepresentation.

If any provision of this Agreement is found to be invalid or unenforceable, the remaining provisions will continue in effect.

A failure or delay by either party to enforce a right under this Agreement does not waive that right.

Headings are included for convenience and do not affect the interpretation of this Agreement.

We may issue different licence terms for future versions of the Software. New terms will not retrospectively alter the licence applying to a version you already obtained unless a change is required by law or you expressly agree to the change.
